INTRODUCTION

Good service is fast, consistent, and always on. AI takes the repetitive 80% so your team can give real attention to the 20% that needs it. Done well, customers get quicker answers and your team gets their day back — without losing the personal touch.

CHAPTER 01

Four ways AI lifts your support

AI doesn't replace your team — it removes the repetitive load so they can focus on the conversations that matter.

1 Instant 24/7 replies

An AI assistant answers common questions immediately, day and night, on your site and WhatsApp, so customers never wait.

2 Smart triage

Messages are read, summarised, and routed to the right person with priority flags, so urgent issues never get buried.

3 Ready-to-send drafts

For anything needing a human, AI drafts a reply from your past answers and knowledge base — your team reviews and sends.

4 Never miss a customer

Sales questions hidden inside support chats get spotted and routed to your team, turning service into revenue.

CHAPTER 02

How to launch it safely

LAUNCH CHECKLIST

- ☐ Feed it your real answers — FAQs, past chats, and policies, so it learns instead of guessing.
- ☐ Keep a human in the loop — AI handles routine, hands off anything sensitive or unusual.
- ☐ Set clear boundaries — define what it can and can't promise on prices and timelines.
- ☐ Stay on brand — match your tone and language, including Arabic, so replies sound like you.
- ☐ Review weekly — read the conversations, fix the gaps, and it gets sharper over time.

TIP

Start with your top 20 questions. They usually cover most of your volume and are the safest place for AI to prove itself.

CHAPTER 03

The payoff

Automating the first response cuts reply times from hours to seconds and frees your team from a large share of repetitive tickets — without sacrificing the personal touch where it counts.

TIP

Measure first-response time and resolution time before and after. The drop is the clearest proof the system is working.
