INTRODUCTION

You don't need to be a tech company to be ready for AI — you need a few repetitive tasks, your information in order, and one clear goal. Run through these checks, count your ticks, and you'll know exactly where you stand and what to do first.

CHAPTER 01

Score your readiness

Tick every box that's true today. Count your ticks — your score is on the next page.

PROCESSES & DATA

- ☐ We can name 3+ repetitive tasks that eat time every week.
- ☐ Those tasks follow clear, repeatable steps.
- ☐ Our customer info lives in a system (CRM or sheet), not just inboxes.
- ☐ We mostly use modern tools that can connect to each other.
- ☐ We talk to customers via WhatsApp, email, or a website form.

TEAM & GOALS

- ☐ Someone will own the rollout and answer questions.
- ☐ The team is open to changing how a few tasks get done.
- ☐ We have a clear goal (more leads, faster replies, less admin).
- ☐ We can measure success with a number or two.
- ☐ We have a modest budget to build the first automation.

CHAPTER 02

What your score means

1 0–3 · Foundations

Tidy up where your data lives and pick one clear bottleneck first. You're closer than you think.

2 4–7 · Ready to start

You have what you need to automate one or two high-impact workflows now.

3 8–10 · Ready to scale

You can move fast, build a system, prove ROI, and expand across the business.

THE MOST IMPORTANT BOX

If you ticked "we can name a repetitive task that eats time every week," you're ready to start — everything else can be built around it.

CHAPTER 03

Your next step

Wherever you landed, the next step is the same: pick the single task costing you the most time, and automate that one first. Start small, prove it works, then expand. We can help you find it and build it.
