The AI Automation Starter Guide

How everyday businesses cut hours of manual busywork every week with simple, reliable AI automation, without hiring a tech team.

Why automate at all?

Most businesses lose 8–15 hours a week to work a computer could do on its own: copying data between tools, chasing leads, sending the same replies, building the same reports.

AI automation doesn't replace your team, it removes the boring, repetitive part of their day so they can focus on customers and growth. The best part: you don't need to be technical, and you don't need to automate everything at once. You start with one painful task, prove it works, then expand.

THE 80/20 OF AUTOMATION

Roughly 80% of the time you'll get back comes from automating just a handful of tasks: lead intake, follow-up, scheduling, data entry, and reporting. Nail those first.

In this guide we'll walk through the exact 4-step approach we use with our own clients to find, build, and launch automations that pay for themselves, usually within the first month.

THE METHOD

Four steps to your first automation

1 Map one painful task

Pick a single repetitive task that eats time every week, e.g. copying enquiries from a form into a spreadsheet, or sending the same follow-up message. Write down each step exactly as a human does it today.

2 Choose the trigger & the tools

Decide what kicks it off (a new lead, a booking, a daily timer) and which apps it touches. Most automations connect 2–3 tools you already use, your CRM, inbox, WhatsApp, or spreadsheet.

3 Build it small, test it live

Build the simplest version that works end-to-end, then run it on real data. Watch it for a few days. The goal is reliable, not clever, a boring automation that never breaks beats a smart one that does.

4 Measure, then expand

Track hours saved and errors avoided. Once one automation is solid, use the time it frees up to build the next. This compounding is where the real ROI lives.

QUICK WINS

5 automations to start with this week

- ✓ Instant lead capture — new enquiries flow straight into your CRM or sheet, tagged and timestamped.
- ✓ Auto follow-up — a friendly WhatsApp or email goes out within minutes, so no lead goes cold.
- ✓ Smart scheduling — bookings confirm, remind, and reschedule themselves, no back-and-forth.
- ✓ AI inbox triage — incoming messages get sorted, summarised, and routed to the right person.
- ✓ Weekly report on autopilot — your key numbers land in your inbox every Monday, built for you.

RULE OF THUMB

If a task is repetitive, rule-based, and done more than a few times a week, it's a candidate for automation. If it needs real judgement or a human touch, keep it human, and let AI handle everything around it.
