The AI Readiness Checklist

TICK EVERY BOX THAT'S TRUE

Score your readiness

Eighteen checks across four areas. Count your ticks, your score is on the next page.

1. Processes

- ☐ We can name 3+ repetitive tasks that eat time every week.
- ☐ Those tasks follow clear, repeatable steps (not pure judgement calls).
- ☐ We know roughly how many hours each one takes per month.
- ☐ The same work is done the same way each time, regardless of who does it.

2. Data & tools

- ☐ Our customer/lead information lives in a system (CRM or sheet), not just inboxes and heads.
- ☐ We mostly use modern tools that can connect to others (have logins / integrations).
- ☐ Our data is reasonably clean and up to date.
- ☐ We know where each important piece of information currently lives.
- ☐ We use WhatsApp, email, or a website form to talk to customers.

3. Team & ownership

- ☐ Someone will own the rollout and answer questions.
- ☐ The team is open to changing how a few tasks get done.
- ☐ Leadership wants to free up time for growth, not just cut costs.

4. Goals & budget

- ☐ We have a clear goal (more leads, faster replies, less admin).
- ☐ We can measure success with a number or two.
- ☐ We're ready to start small and expand what works.

- ☐ We have a modest budget set aside to build the first automation.
- ☐ We'd rather fix a real bottleneck than chase the shiniest tool.
- ☐ We can commit a little time to testing over the first few weeks.

YOUR RESULT

What your score means

0–6 · Foundations

Tidy up where your data lives and pick one clear bottleneck first. You're closer than you think.

7–12 · Ready to start

You have what you need to automate one or two high-impact workflows now.

13–18 · Ready to scale

You can move fast, build a system, prove ROI, and expand across the business.

THE MOST IMPORTANT BOX

If you ticked "we can name a repetitive task that eats time every week," you're ready to start, everything else can be built around it.

Wherever you landed, the next step is the same: pick the single task costing you the most time, and automate that one first. We can help you find it and build it.
